Durin

Durin was the nickname of Antonio Basso's grandfather who was the founder of this family farm. Today, Antonio and his wife Laura continue to preserve the old traditions and tastes of the land, while pursuing a meticulous and comprehensive selection process in order to maintain a symbiosis of natural elements.

Description

Straw yellow color with golden tones. Ample, intensely fruity in the nose, fragrant, persistent with fresh smell of plum, ripe peach and honey on a mineral background; slight hints of yellow flowers, moss and woody resins. Its dry taste is soft, broad on the palate, gently warm, sapid, good-bodied, with great persistence and with a pleasant bitter "background" that resembles the peach seed and bitter honey scents
