Masseria Frattasi

Eco-sustainability has always been a driving factor for the Cecere and Clemente families who have produced wines here since 1576. From the magnificent natural scenery to the volcanic soil of Bonea on the towering Taburno mountain, Masseria Frattasi produces its wines with an intense attention to the territory and the environment.

Description

Grapes are hung and dried for several days after the harvest. Intense purple red color. The smell reminds of blackberries and blackcurrants, the taste is full and balanced with melted tannins and a long finish of roasted coffee, chocolate, tobacco and spices
