

Pampana

Cantine di Terravecchia

The Cantine di Terravecchia estate was born from the 35 hectares of Alberto Longo's farm, located near the old town of Pietramontecorvino, a small hamlet on the Subappennine Dauno mountains in the north of Puglia. Here, 450 meters above sea level, Alberto Longo matches the love for his land with his passion for winemaking, providing wines of excellence that seek to enhance the value of his native territory.

Still

Red

Apulia

Puglia IGP

2013

Negroamaro

Aging

cement vats and stainless steel tanks

Description

Quite strong ruby red color. Pleasant and harmonious scent, with alluring notes of wild berries. Pleasant, round, sweet tannins and optimally structured taste